I am writing to apply for the People & Office Manager (m/w/d) position at Ordio GmbH. Your mission to build an all-in-one platform for deskless workers is genuinely interesting, and I appreciate the focus on practical tools that solve real operational problems.

Although my professional background is in software engineering, I bring strong organizational discipline, a structured approach to workflows, and a proven ability to automate repetitive tasks. I have hands-on experience with AI tools and process automation, which aligns well with your preference for someone who can identify recurring tasks and make them more efficient.

In previous work, I managed end-to-end project coordination, from equipment setup and deployment to team communication and documentation. I am comfortable handling administrative responsibilities, organizing logistics, and maintaining clear records. I work well independently and take ownership of tasks from day one.

I am based in Voronezh, Russia, and I am ready to relocate to Cologne for this role. I speak English fluently and have working knowledge of German, which allows me to communicate effectively in your team's bilingual environment.

I have attached my CV for your review and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how I can support Ordio's operations as you continue to grow.

Best regards, Md Shahanur Islam Shagor

Sincerely,
