I am writing to apply for the Growth Product Manager role at AltaML. The focus on building product experiences that turn newly signed dealers into active, self-sufficient customers resonates with how I approach product development: understanding real user friction and building solutions that scale.

While my professional background is in software engineering, I have consistently worked at the intersection of product thinking and technical delivery. Over the past four years, I have built and shipped full-stack SaaS platforms where I owned feature definition, user flows, and cross-functional coordination. I have designed onboarding experiences, implemented role-based access controls, and built real-time feedback systems that directly improved user activation and retention.

One area that particularly interests me is the emphasis on being in the field with customers. In my previous roles, I worked closely with stakeholders to understand their workflows, identify blockers, and translate those insights into product decisions. I am comfortable moving between technical discussions with engineers and practical conversations with end users.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review and welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background aligns with this role.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
