I am writing to apply for the Marketing Coordinator position at Regime Fight League (RFL), as advertised through Blackstone Talent Group. RFL's mission to provide a legitimate and electric platform for amateur MMA fighters in Southern California is compelling, and I am interested in contributing to a growing brand that values real ownership and visible impact.

Although my professional background is in software engineering, I bring strong organizational skills, attention to detail, and experience coordinating workflows across multiple projects. I am comfortable with web CMS editing, scheduling tools, and basic analytics, which directly support the responsibilities outlined for this role, including maintaining the RFL website, managing content calendars, and reporting performance metrics.

In my previous work as a Web Developer, I regularly coordinated with cross-functional teams, managed content updates, and ensured timely delivery of features and communications. I am accustomed to keeping multiple tasks organized and on track, which aligns with the need to coordinate social media and graphic design interns and keep brand assets accessible.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my organizational skills and technical background can support RFL's marketing operations as the brand continues to grow.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
