I am writing to apply for the Senior Marketing Manager position at INDUMERA GmbH. After reviewing the job description, I want to be straightforward: my professional background is in software engineering and full-stack web development, not in marketing, campaign management, or client-facing agency work.

This role requires strategic workshop facilitation, B2B marketing campaign execution on platforms like Google and LinkedIn, client project management, and performance data analysis. My experience does not align with these responsibilities.

I have no experience managing marketing campaigns, conducting client workshops, or leading technical onboarding for marketing tools. My skills are in building web applications, APIs, and backend systems using Laravel, Next.js, React, and related technologies.

I respect your time and do not want to submit an application that misrepresents my qualifications. I believe in honest communication and would rather not apply than waste your review process.

Thank you for considering my candidacy. I wish INDUMERA continued success in supporting industrial companies with their marketing growth.

I’ve attached my CV for your reference.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
