I am writing to apply for the Sales Lead / Business Development role at Path to Zero. Your mission to decarbonise energy-intensive industry using data-driven decision intelligence is both technically compelling and commercially urgent. The combination of software, forecasting, and deep engineering knowledge creates a product that genuinely moves the needle for industrial clients.

Although my professional background is in software engineering, I bring a rare combination of technical depth and business communication skills that directly supports this role. I have spent years building complex full-stack systems and explaining their value to stakeholders who are not engineers. I know how to listen to a client's pain points, translate them into technical requirements, and articulate how a solution delivers measurable outcomes.

In my previous work, I managed end-to-end project delivery, from initial client discovery and scoping through to deployment and ongoing support. I worked directly with business owners, marketing teams, and end users to align technical decisions with commercial goals. This experience has given me a structured approach to pipeline management, clear communication across technical and non-technical audiences, and the discipline to drive processes forward independently.

One area that particularly interests me is the chance to build Path to Zero's sales function from an existing foundation of inbound leads and proven product-market fit. I am comfortable taking ownership of a full sales cycle, qualifying leads systematically, and building long-term client relationships in industries where trust and technical credibility matter.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my technical communication skills and structured approach can help Path to Zero scale its impact in the industrial energy market.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
