I am writing to apply for the Account Executive position at SumUp. Your mission to make payments simple and accessible for small merchants across Europe is something I find genuinely compelling, and I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to your growing outbound sales team in Berlin.

My professional background is in software engineering, where I have spent over four years building web applications and working directly with clients and stakeholders. At Explo-IT, I was responsible for gathering requirements, translating business needs into technical solutions, and ensuring that what we delivered actually solved real problems for the end user. This experience taught me how to listen carefully, ask the right questions, and position solutions in a way that makes sense to people who are not technical.

What stands out to me about this role is the emphasis on being a trusted solutions consultant rather than a pure product seller. That is exactly how I have always approached my work. Whether I was helping a travel agency build their booking platform or developing a financial app for small business owners, my focus was always on understanding the customer's pain points first and then finding the right fit. I am comfortable leading discovery conversations, handling objections, and building genuine relationships with decision-makers.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I am eager to bring my structured approach, ownership mindset, and genuine interest in helping small businesses succeed to SumUp. I have attached my CV for your review and would welcome the chance to discuss how I can contribute to your team.

Sincerely,
