I am writing to apply for the Energieberater position at ALPHA Software GmbH. Your work in digitalizing building documentation for real estate agents is a practical and much-needed approach, and I am interested in contributing to a growing team that values direct communication and real responsibility.

While my background is in software engineering, I bring strong digital literacy, structured work habits, and experience handling detailed documentation and data validation. I am comfortable working independently in a fully remote setup and communicating clearly with clients via phone and email.

In my previous work, I have managed complex workflows, maintained accurate records, and collaborated with teams to improve processes. I am used to taking ownership of tasks and ensuring they are completed correctly and on time.

I am fluent in English and have working knowledge of German. I am ready to start soon and have a reliable internet connection for remote work.

I have attached my CV for your review. I look forward to the possibility of contributing to ALPHA Software GmbH.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
