I am writing to apply for the Brand Strategist position at Digital. Your focus on building an authentic, engaged community and brand identity through audience development, content strategy, and short-form video aligns with my experience in creating user-centric digital platforms.

My professional background is in software engineering, where I have designed and developed full-stack web applications using Laravel, Next.js, React, and Node.js. While my technical work has been centered on building scalable systems, a core part of every project has been understanding the end user, defining how content is structured and delivered, and ensuring the platform supports growth and engagement. I have built real-time features, role-based access systems, and responsive interfaces that prioritize user experience.

Through my work on platforms like a multivendor e-commerce ecosystem and a travel agency app, I have gained practical experience in defining how content is organized, how users interact with a brand, and how to align technical decisions with broader business objectives. These projects required me to think strategically about audience segments, content pillars, and how to create a cohesive experience across web and mobile.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background can contribute to your brand strategy goals.

Best regards, Md Shahanur Islam Shagor

Sincerely,
