I am writing to apply for the Freelance Social Media Strategist role at Digital. While my primary expertise lies in software engineering, I have consistently worked on projects that required a deep understanding of audience engagement, content strategy, and digital brand positioning.

Through my work building full-stack platforms, I have developed a practical understanding of how to structure content, design user journeys, and align digital experiences with brand objectives. I have managed platforms that serve diverse user bases, requiring me to think strategically about audience segmentation, content cadence, and community interaction.

One area that particularly interests me is the intersection of technology and audience growth. In previous projects, I have implemented systems that track user behavior, analyze engagement patterns, and support data-driven content decisions. This technical perspective allows me to approach social media strategy with a focus on measurable outcomes and scalable growth.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background can support Digital’s social growth strategy.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
