I am writing to apply for the Freelance Social Media Strategist role at Digital. While my primary expertise is in software engineering, I have built and managed digital platforms where audience growth, user engagement, and content strategy were central to success.

Through my work developing full-stack web applications, I have gained practical experience in understanding user behavior, optimizing digital experiences, and implementing systems that drive engagement. These projects required me to think strategically about how users interact with content and how to build features that keep them coming back.

One area that particularly interests me is the intersection of technology and audience development. In previous projects, I have built platforms with role-based access, real-time notifications, and community features, all of which required a deep understanding of user segmentation and engagement patterns. I am comfortable working independently as a freelance consultant and can bring a technical perspective to social strategy decisions.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments.

I have attached my CV for your review and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background can contribute to your social growth strategy.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
