I am writing to apply for the Junior Sales Manager / Trainee im Vertrieb position at Koller & Lode. Your mission to bring traditional craft businesses into the digital world is ambitious and practical, and I want to be part of a team that works with that kind of focus and energy.

What stands out to me about this role is that you are looking for drive and willingness to learn rather than prior sales experience. I am a software engineering student with a background in full-stack development, but more importantly, I am someone who sets clear goals and works consistently to reach them. I am used to taking initiative, communicating with different types of people, and staying disciplined even when things do not go as planned.

I am ready to start with lead acquisition, qualify prospects, and learn your validated sales system step by step. I understand that success in this role comes from consistency, energy, and the ability to handle rejection without losing momentum. I have those qualities. I am also comfortable working with CRM tools and handling administrative tasks efficiently, which means I can focus on what matters most: results.

In addition to my technical background, I work well in team environments and communicate clearly with both colleagues and clients. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and I enjoy collaborating in international settings. I am fully available to work on-site in Wˆ…rzburg and ready to commit to your high-performance culture.

I have attached my CV for your review. I would welcome the opportunity to speak with you for a few minutes and show you that I have the drive and mindset to grow with your team.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
