I am writing to apply for the Partnerships Manager position at Wikimedia Deutschland e.V. The mission of supporting free knowledge through Wikidata and Wikibase is one I find genuinely meaningful, and I am drawn to the role of bridging the software development department with cultural heritage institutions, science partners, and the broader Wikimedia community.

My professional background is in software engineering, where I have spent over four years building full-stack web applications and working closely with diverse teams and stakeholders. This experience has given me a strong understanding of databases, digital networks, and how technical systems function. I am comfortable explaining how platforms like Wikibase and Wikidata work to audiences with varying levels of technical familiarity, and I enjoy translating complex concepts into clear, accessible language.

One area that particularly interests me is the relationship management aspect of this role. In my previous work as a Web Developer, I regularly acted as a bridge between technical teams and external clients or partners. I gathered requirements, communicated progress, and ensured that feedback was incorporated into the development process. This required clear communication, patience, and the ability to build trust with people from different backgrounds. I believe these skills transfer directly to managing relationships with GLAMs, research institutions, and other organisations working with Wikibase and Wikidata.

In addition to my technical experience, I work effectively across multidisciplinary teams and communicate clearly with both technical and non-technical stakeholders. I am fluent in Bengali and English, have working knowledge of Russian and Hindi, and enjoy collaborating in international and cross-cultural environments. I am also prepared to travel as needed and am committed to fostering diversity and inclusion in every team I join.

I have attached my CV for your review. Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to the possibility of contributing to the Wikimedia mission.

Sincerely,

Md Shahanur Islam Shagor
